

Best Practice: The CPD Cycle

For CPD training courses to be effective and have a real impact on learners and their performance in schools, each of the steps in the circle must be well executed. Therefore, training courses for teachers and school leaders should be prepared, managed and delivered by professional institutions and facilitators. The circle may vary based on the scope of the exercise, but the logic is the same.

